

October 17

The Alex and Marie Manoogian Hall,
Paramaz Avedisian Building, AUA.
40 Marshal Baghramyan ave, Yerevan, Armenia.

REGISTRATION 11.45-12.00

OPENING 12.00-12.40

Theoretical Approaches

12.45-13.00 “U.S. Declaration of Independence. An Interpretation of the Preamble Using the Writings of John Locke”.

Arpie Balian, PSIA Professor.

13.00-13.30 “An Old Question: How Revolutionary Was the American Revolution”.

Jack N. Rakove, Professor of Political Science and (by courtesy) of Law, Stanford University.

13.30-13.45 “The American Declaration of Independence as a Synthesis of Revolutionary and Conservative Ideas”.

Ambassador Tigran Mkrtchyan, Ph.D., Visiting Lecturer at the Department of World History, YSU.

13.45-14.15 “The American Revolution and a Candid World”.

Robert J. Allison, Professor of History, Suffolk University.

14.15- 14.30 “U.S. as the Third Rome. Ideas, Heritage and Symbolism”.

Areg Kochinyan, President of the Armenian Center of Young Analysts, NGO.

DISCUSSION 14.30-15.00

COFFEE BREAK 15.00-15.20

Synthesis of Ideas

15.25-15.40 “U.S. Declaration of Independence: “Pursuit of Happiness” (In perspective of Aristotle and Cicero)”.

Professor Albert Stepanyan, Doctor of Historical Sciences, President of the AAWH (NGO), Head of the Department of World History, YSU.

Lilit Minasyan, Dr., Associate Professor of the Department of World History, YSU, Vice President of the AAWH.

15.40-15.55 “The American Declaration of Independence as a Symbol of Self-determination: Parallels with the Nagorno-Karabakh Republic's Declaration of Independence”.

Mariam Margaryan, Professor of Political Science, Head of the Department of Political Administration and Political Analysis at the Academy of State Administration.

15.55-16.10 “Natural Politics in “The Snare of Glory” and The US Declaration of Independence”.

Naré Hovhannisyanyan, BA Student, American University of Armenia.

16.10-16.25 “Social Consensus in the USA in the Light of Roman Social Experience”.

Hzhdeh Hovsepyan, PhD Candidate, the Department of Armenian History, YSU.

16.25-16.40 “The Key Ideas of New World System by Woodrow Wilson”.

Karen Gasparyan, Dr., Associate Professor of the Department of World History, YSU.

FINAL DISCUSSION 16.45-17.30